To whom it may concern, it has come to my attention that there is a possibility for a moving company to be established in the Lancaster county area. Myself, a resident of this county strongly recommend this company 'Modern Day Movers' to be allowed to transport household goods throughout this area and thereof. In the Lancaster County area, I find it a struggle to obtain a moving company that would be cost efficient, mainly due to the travel cost that it would take to get one of these other companies to travel to and from their home location. Therefore, as a South Carolinian and a resident of Lancaster county, I would rather spend my money in somebody that is local, which in return would potentially cause economic growth in throughout my county.

The closest moving company from this area is from 30 minutes to a hour depending on which area of Lancaster you reside in. Modern Day Movers are located in a position which splits the difference of mileages between any other companies in this state, especially, from Columbia to Charlotte and any surrounding areas. Finally, as I said earlier I would like to reiterate that Modern Day Movers would be a great candidate to be able to transport household goods throughout this area.

Sincerely,

Andrew Broughton
